This product meets the applicable national or international RF exposure guidance (SAR guideline) when used normally against your head or, when worn or carried, at a distance of 0.5 cm (0.2 in) from the body (see SAR brochure provided within the product box). Motorola has designed this product to be compliant with radio frequency exposure guidelines established by both the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the United States and the Canadian Standards Association (CSA). It includes a considerable safety margin designed to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age and health.

At a glance

Your new Moto X has a big, bright, high-definition display that goes from one side all the way to the other. Its curved body fits in your hand.

Note: Your phone may look a little different.

Caution: Before using your phone, please read the safety, regulatory and legal information provided with your product.

1. Put in the SIM
   1. Put the nano SIM in and power on. (Your nano SIM may already be in your phone. If it is, just power on.)
   2. Use the tool to pop out the SIM tray.
   3. Put the nano SIM into the tray.
   4. Push the tray back into your phone.

2. Power on.
   1. Press & hold Power until the screen lights up.
   2. Put in the nano SIM card (if it is not already in).
   3. Charge up, if you need to.

3. Sign in
   1. If you use Gmail™, you already have a Google™ account—if not, you can create an account during setup. Signing into your Google account lets you use Google apps, see your contacts, appointments, photos, and more.
   2. Just select your language and follow the screen prompts to get started.

Tip:
Use your voice for apps and voice-activated functions, like Google Now and Moto Maker. Say your custom phrase, like “OK Moto X” or “Listen Up Moto.”

For Your Safety
During use, the actual SAR values for your device are usually well below the values stated. This is because, for purposes of system efficiency and to minimize interference on the network, the operating level of wireless devices is controlled by network operators to be significantly lower than the levels associated with the highest calculated SAR values.

Note:
The actual SAR value of your device will vary according to network conditions and output power levels in order to achieve optimal performance. Additional information can be found at www.motorola.com/rfhealth.
